Subject: Priest complaint

I just got a call from an attorney in N.J. named [REDACTED]. He represents a victim of a clergy abuse case. He was calling to find out if the church had reported it.

Clergy: Brother Bernard Nolan or Nolin (I didn't get the spelling) from the Marist Order
Abuse occurred in 1986 when the victim was 11 years old at the Marist summer camp in Ossipee or Effingham.

Attorney [REDACTED] said that the Marist Order claimed they had reported it to NH authorities. [REDACTED] checked with the county attorney's office and they did not have anything.

Can you see if we have a complaint involving this priest?

Please call Attorney [REDACTED] back and let him know whether the Marist's have reported it to us. Also, if you need more information please feel free to call him.

Thanks,

Subject: Old Priest Abuse

Good Morning:

Delker received a call recently from an Atty. in NJ. His client indicated there was abuse by a Bro. Bernard Nolin or Nolan a Marist who abused an 11 year old boy while at the Marist summer camp in Ossipee or Effingham, NH in 1986. The Atty. checked with the Marist Order who advised they had notified NH Auth. Atty. then called County Atty who had nothing and I do not find a Marist Brother by that name. I do have the Priest from Keene. Are you aware of the Marist Brother?

Where We Are

Marist ministry flows from our spirituality, community, and mission to render Mary present to the Church today. All Marists are missionary in character, desiring to serve God and bear the love of God for others.

We reach out to all people – especially those who feel alienated. We encourage the Church to unify in its diversity and to be transformed by the spirit of Mary. Our apostolic work takes us to parishes, schools and college campuses, prisons, hospitals, and missions in this country and overseas.

The Society of Mary is composed of priests and brothers in 14 provinces and four mission districts around the world. In the United States there are two provinces with centers in B and Atlanta. The Boston Province covers the Northeast; the Atlanta Province covers the rest of the country.

Our Atlanta Province has priests and brothers in 16 states and the District of Columbia. In addition, we minister in Italy, the Philippines, Brazil, and the South Pacific.

A Family Spirit

The Marist Brothers in the United States are in the many places that meet the needs of young people - schools, campus ministry, guidance programs, summer camps, retreat centers and other pastoral settings. In every program and setting, Marist Brothers educate for life - we seek to improve the well-being of individuals and to enhance the quality of life of the whole community.

Working alongside the Brothers - united by a common mission and charism - are many lay associates. Nearly 400 lay colleagues of the Brothers have participated in a program called "Sharing Our Call," designed to share the charism of Marcellin Champagnat. Plans for the future include a follow-up program, "Sharing Our Experiences of God" as well as a Marist Leadership Institute.

Simply said, the reason Marists exist is to make Jesus Christ known and loved. We care deeply for each other, and as Marist educators, we show youth that they are loved, safe, and cared for.

life together."

Marcellin Champagnat had an apostolic zeal for youth, but his commitment to his community of Brothers was at the heart of his . He lived intentionally with others, sharing in the everyday hard work of housekeeping as well as training them to evangelize among the young people. He recognized the centrality and importance of living together as a community - simply, prayerfully, and witnessing to the Gospel in daily interaction - in order to be radically present to young people.

What is our community life like today? We like to say that what you get is what you get... We're down to earth with a spirit of humility. We're dedicated to our mission of education for youth. We pay particular attention to the young person least favored by society.

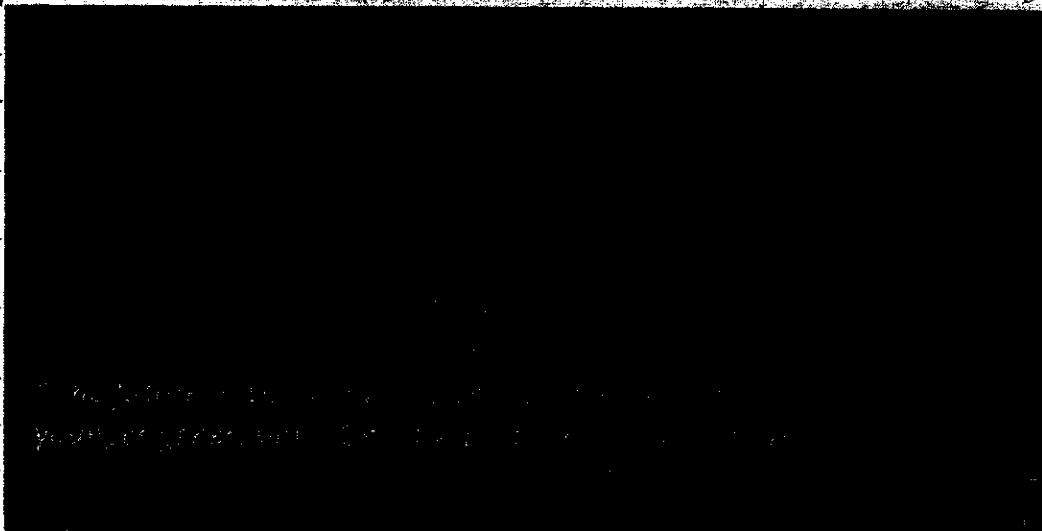

Our approach involves serious prayer, hard work, humor and fun. We strive to be generous with ourselves by being involved in the great mission of the community and the Church. We support each other through the ups and downs. We're quietly proud of our "family" and are emboldened by the dynamic and living charism of our founder.

Marist Brothers are called as modern day Marcellin Champagnats to minister to young people with dedicated service and hope - so that all will come to know and love Jesus Christ.

The culture of today's society relentlessly entices youth toward consumerism and unabashed individualism. Nonetheless, many young people are looking for a simpler, more noble set of values to capture their minds, hearts, and imagination. They hunger for a kinder world that expresses who they are in the context of relationship and something bigger than themselves. The Marist Brothers are committed by the models of Mary and our founder Marcellin Champagnat to help these young people discover and respond to God's love and purpose for them.

In every educational, pastoral and social setting, Marist Brothers create an atmosphere of growing and learning that is both challenging and enjoyable and cares about the whole person. Our academic teaching is well respected - an extraordinarily high percentage of students go on to further education. However, it is our spiritual values, our commitment to social justice and our Marist spirituality of presence that we believe makes the greatest difference in what a young person will ultimately do in life.

As Marists, we are particularly dedicated to being with and helping the least favored of young people, those who are excluded from the mainstream of society and whose material poverty often hampers intellectual, emotional and spiritual growth. To all youth we preserve the Marcellin spirit of practical compassion, sacrificing our own comfort and security for the needs of the other person. Marist values also show themselves in the environments where we work - the young people often from many different cultural backgrounds, and we foster a

The Marist Brothers

Among the 65 million Catholics in the United States, the Marist Brothers are small in number, but who they are is very significant in shaping future leaders in the Church and society. In a variety of educational non-formal settings, the Brothers dedicate their lives to transforming lives and situation of our youth, particularly the least favored and at-risk. They show them that they are loved by God, care for their spiritual well being and education, and challenge them to live their fullest potential in Christ and for the common good.

As God has called them to this particular mission of evangelization through education, the Marist Brothers encourage and equip every young person in their care to recognize and embrace God's unique for them in the world. From a faith-filled, secure, joyful foundation these young people develop the character, confidence, and skill to shape their lives and their work - and the lives of many, many others.

With the active participation of the young people themselves, the Brothers seek creative ways to develop their inner capacity to discern life direction, to provide them with a holistic education, to encourage them to care for others and God's creation, to help them become agents of social change, to nurture their faith and discipleship in Jesus Christ and to enable them to make choices based on Gospel values.

Today's global context and complexity require new concepts in education beyond the school and new levels of committed presence and accompaniment to see that every young person, especially the most neglected, has the foundation upon which to build a moral and meaningful life. As founder Marcellin Champagnat dedicated his life to the human and Christian development of young people over 187 years ago, Marist Brothers today are emboldened to serve the young for the love of Mary and the sake of God's Kingdom.

From founder Marcellin Champagnat to Bro. Barthelémy in 1999: What a wonderful and sublime occupation you have! You are constantly among the very people with whom Jesus Christ was so delighted to be since he expressly forbade his disciples to prevent the children from coming to him. And you, dear friend, far from preventing them, are

Dear Paul:

In response to your email below regarding the Marist Brother, Bernard Nolin/Nolan, we have checked the diocesan directories for 1986-87 and 1987-88. The Marist Brothers (F.M.S.) did operate Camp Marist on Lake Ossipee around that time. We do not have a listing for the staff at the camp and the Marist Brothers are NOT listed in the diocesan directories as having a 'residence' in New Hampshire. I am making an assumption that the Marist Brothers came to NH in the summer and operated the camp, then left at the end of the season.

We have been unable to find any information about a Brother named Bernard Nolin/Nolan.
