A greater openness

By Eleanor Beighle

The recent resignation of the Rev. Roger Trotter of the Greensburg Diocese for child abuse has set an important tone for the church and has brought about a greater openness.

The case of Rev. Roger Trotter, who resigned in 1984, was a major incident in the church's history. It involved the abuse of children by a priest, which was not uncommon at the time.

In 1985, the Greensburg Diocese paid two families $750,000 to settle civil lawsuits filed in 1973 and 1974 on behalf of three teenage boys who had been sexually abused by a priest who later became a member of the Greensburg Diocese.

The case of Rev. Roger Trotter was a major incident in the church's history. It involved the abuse of children by a priest, which was not uncommon at the time.

The case of Rev. Roger Trotter was a major incident in the church's history. It involved the abuse of children by a priest, which was not uncommon at the time.

In 1985, the Greensburg Diocese paid two families $750,000 to settle civil lawsuits filed in 1973 and 1974 on behalf of three teenage boys who had been sexually abused by a priest who later became a member of the Greensburg Diocese.

The case of Rev. Roger Trotter was a major incident in the church's history. It involved the abuse of children by a priest, which was not uncommon at the time.

The case of Rev. Roger Trotter was a major incident in the church's history. It involved the abuse of children by a priest, which was not uncommon at the time.

In 1985, the Greensburg Diocese paid two families $750,000 to settle civil lawsuits filed in 1973 and 1974 on behalf of three teenage boys who had been sexually abused by a priest who later became a member of the Greensburg Diocese.

The case of Rev. Roger Trotter was a major incident in the church's history. It involved the abuse of children by a priest, which was not uncommon at the time.

The case of Rev. Roger Trotter was a major incident in the church's history. It involved the abuse of children by a priest, which was not uncommon at the time.

In 1985, the Greensburg Diocese paid two families $750,000 to settle civil lawsuits filed in 1973 and 1974 on behalf of three teenage boys who had been sexually abused by a priest who later became a member of the Greensburg Diocese.

The case of Rev. Roger Trotter was a major incident in the church's history. It involved the abuse of children by a priest, which was not uncommon at the time.

The case of Rev. Roger Trotter was a major incident in the church's history. It involved the abuse of children by a priest, which was not uncommon at the time.

In 1985, the Greensburg Diocese paid two families $750,000 to settle civil lawsuits filed in 1973 and 1974 on behalf of three teenage boys who had been sexually abused by a priest who later became a member of the Greensburg Diocese.

The case of Rev. Roger Trotter was a major incident in the church's history. It involved the abuse of children by a priest, which was not uncommon at the time.

The case of Rev. Roger Trotter was a major incident in the church's history. It involved the abuse of children by a priest, which was not uncommon at the time.

In 1985, the Greensburg Diocese paid two families $750,000 to settle civil lawsuits filed in 1973 and 1974 on behalf of three teenage boys who had been sexually abused by a priest who later became a member of the Greensburg Diocese.

The case of Rev. Roger Trotter was a major incident in the church's history. It involved the abuse of children by a priest, which was not uncommon at the time.

The case of Rev. Roger Trotter was a major incident in the church's history. It involved the abuse of children by a priest, which was not uncommon at the time.

In 1985, the Greensburg Diocese paid two families $750,000 to settle civil lawsuits filed in 1973 and 1974 on behalf of three teenage boys who had been sexually abused by a priest who later became a member of the Greensburg Diocese.

The case of Rev. Roger Trotter was a major incident in the church's history. It involved the abuse of children by a priest, which was not uncommon at the time.

The case of Rev. Roger Trotter was a major incident in the church's history. It involved the abuse of children by a priest, which was not uncommon at the time.

In 1985, the Greensburg Diocese paid two families $750,000 to settle civil lawsuits filed in 1973 and 1974 on behalf of three teenage boys who had been sexually abused by a priest who later became a member of the Greensburg Diocese.

The case of Rev. Roger Trotter was a major incident in the church's history. It involved the abuse of children by a priest, which was not uncommon at the time.

The case of Rev. Roger Trotter was a major incident in the church's history. It involved the abuse of children by a priest, which was not uncommon at the time.

In 1985, the Greensburg Diocese paid two families $750,000 to settle civil lawsuits filed in 1973 and 1974 on behalf of three teenage boys who had been sexually abused by a priest who later became a member of the Greensburg Diocese.

The case of Rev. Roger Trotter was a major incident in the church's history. It involved the abuse of children by a priest, which was not uncommon at the time.

The case of Rev. Roger Trotter was a major incident in the church's history. It involved the abuse of children by a priest, which was not uncommon at the time.

In 1985, the Greensburg Diocese paid two families $750,000 to settle civil lawsuits filed in 1973 and 1974 on behalf of three teenage boys who had been sexually abused by a priest who later became a member of the Greensburg Diocese.

The case of Rev. Roger Trotter was a major incident in the church's history. It involved the abuse of children by a priest, which was not uncommon at the time.

The case of Rev. Roger Trotter was a major incident in the church's history. It involved the abuse of children by a priest, which was not uncommon at the time.

In 1985, the Greensburg Diocese paid two families $750,000 to settle civil lawsuits filed in 1973 and 1974 on behalf of three teenage boys who had been sexually abused by a priest who later became a member of the Greensburg Diocese.

The case of Rev. Roger Trotter was a major incident in the church's history. It involved the abuse of children by a priest, which was not uncommon at the time.

The case of Rev. Roger Trotter was a major incident in the church's history. It involved the abuse of children by a priest, which was not uncommon at the time.

In 1985, the Greensburg Diocese paid two families $750,000 to settle civil lawsuits filed in 1973 and 1974 on behalf of three teenage boys who had been sexually abused by a priest who later became a member of the Greensburg Diocese.

The case of Rev. Roger Trotter was a major incident in the church's history. It involved the abuse of children by a priest, which was not uncommon at the time.

The case of Rev. Roger Trotter was a major incident in the church's history. It involved the abuse of children by a priest, which was not uncommon at the time.

In 1985, the Greensburg Diocese paid two families $750,000 to settle civil lawsuits filed in 1973 and 1974 on behalf of three teenage boys who had been sexually abused by a priest who later became a member of the Greensburg Diocese.

The case of Rev. Roger Trotter was a major incident in the church's history. It involved the abuse of children by a priest, which was not uncommon at the time.

The case of Rev. Roger Trotter was a major incident in the church's history. It involved the abuse of children by a priest, which was not uncommon at the time.