Information to be released

The assurance given is The charter

These are the names of priests, living and deceased, who have been removed from ministry because of a substantiated report of sexual abuse of a minor. All living men are restricted from all priestly ministries, may not celebrate the sacraments publicly, or present themselves as priests in any way.

In addition, in accordance with the canonical norms that have been established for clerical sexual abuse of minors, the allegations against any living priest are sent to the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith in Rome.

- Offender Name
- Birthdate
- Ordination date
- List of assignments and years
- Current status
  - Deceased, date of death
  - Laicized
  - Left priestly ministry in 19xx
  - Living a life of prayer and penance as outlined in the Charter for the protection of children and young people.
  - Fully restricted from priestly ministry

The ultimate disposition of these cases will be made under Church law and according to the following provisions:

1. When even a single act of sexual abuse by a priest is admitted or is established after an appropriate process in accord with canon law, the offending priest will be removed permanently from ecclesiastical ministry, not excluding dismissal from the clerical state, if the case so warrants.
2. If for reasons such as advanced age or infirmity the penalty of dismissal from the clerical state is not applied for an established act of sexual abuse of a minor, the offending priest will lead a life of prayer and penance and the restrictions from any priestly ministry will become permanent.

Archbishop,

Here is the timeline and material listing for the distribution of names.

- A. Archbishop reviews/approves final e-mail draft. Return draft to Jerry T before departure to Philadelphia. This e-mail will be sent at 10 p.m., on Thursday, July 8.
- B. The e-mail will be sent to the same group of parish leaders that receive the Archbishop's weekly "some seed" e-mail. It will include a "link" to the archdiocesan Web site where the listing of names will be provided.
- C. Kathleen is preparing the final "page proofs" for review. [Redacted] She will bring a set for Archbishop's review on Thursday afternoon.
- D. Letter to victims/survivors is drafted and has been reviewed by legal counsel. Sharon Krueger is preparing the letters for mailing on Wednesday, July 7, 2004.
- E. Letter to offenders has been drafted and reviewed by legal counsel. Sister Kathleen will prepare and mail these letters on Tuesday, July 6, 2004.
- F. The "1st Thursday" letter to priests will be e-mailed to priests by Barb Stadler on July 8. Some bullet points from Kathleen are attached.
- G. A bulletin announcement for use in July 18 parish bulletins will be e-mailed to parishes on Friday, July 9.
- H. Archbishop will write his Herald of Hope column on this topic for July 22 edition.
- I. Kathleen is drafting an e-mail from Archbishop Dolan to the central office staff for distribution on Thursday, July 8.
- J. Jerry and Kathleen will meet with Fr. Tom Brundage about coverage in the Herald.

---

K. Kathleen and Jerry are drafting a Q & A that will be posted to the web with the listing of names. This will be finalized by July 7 for review by our internal team and legal counsel.

Archbishop,

Here is the revised e-mail to the "some seed" group regarding the release of names. There were a few minor language and "readability" changes that I think help the overall flow and tone. However, you need to review the following, more substantial changes and advise on how you would want to proceed.

1. We've removed the sentence about how this decision was made prior to your arrival. Our consultant thought this sounded self-forgiving. It is now your decision.
2. On page 1, paragraph 4, we have changed the wording back to substantiated reports of sexual abuse of a minor. For legal reasons we may want to return to the original language, however, the counsel given was this may be seen as trying to minimize the issue. Call it what it is. I'm fine either way, but it makes it crisper to say substantiated reports of sexual abuse of a minor, and victims/survivors will be happier with that language.
3. We've reworded part and removed part of the language about the information we will not release. (See page 3, paragraph 1 of original draft). We thought this was asking for trouble from the media and/or SNAP.
4. We've removed the sentence apologizing to priests (p.3 paragraph 2). The counsel was that this was about victims, not about priests. I understand the rationale. The criticism would be that again we are worried about whether priests will be hurt, when we should be worried about what victims have already been hurt. Again, I am open to reinserting that line.

Please advise,

Jerry

ADOM121636

Publicly Releasing the Names of Priest Offenders
For September 29 Internal Communications Meeting

Pros

- Victims want them
- When a offender name becomes public, more victims come forward
- Eliminates a critiqueism of the Church
- Helps the Archdiocese with monitoring
  - i.e. the protection of children is still the "high trump"
- Addresses an issue raised by state legislators
- Avoids the Archdiocese being held hostage by a single issue
- Fulfills the promise we made in June 2002

Cons

- Families of deceased offenders may not know of individual's history
- Releasing the names of dead people seems irreverent
- List is not complete; may not ever be complete
  - i.e. religious orders, non-substantiated allegations, pending investigations
- Some on list are not truly substantiated
- Archdiocese could/will get sued --
- Scandal
  - i.e. that priest married us; that priest baptized me;
- It's Embarrassing
- It's a lot of work to do it right
  - We're tired
- Mud raking
  - i.e. why drag the Church through this again
  - Why keep bringing these things up
- Some victims don't want the names released (how many?)
- Seen as vengeful (to whom/by whom)
- Other professions don't release

Publicly Releasing the Names of Priest Offenders
For September 29 Internal Communications Meeting

Pros

- Victims want them
- When a offender name becomes public, more victims come forward
- Eliminates a criticism of the Church
- Helps the Archdiocese with monitoring
  - i.e. the protection of children is still the "high trump"
- Addresses an issue raised by state legislators
- Avoids the Archdiocese being held hostage by a single issue
- Fulfills the promise we made in June 2002

Cons

- Families of deceased offenders may not know of individual's history
- Releasing the names of dead people seems irreverent
- List is not complete; may not ever be complete
  - i.e. religious orders, non-substantiated allegations, pending investigations
- Some on list are not truly substantiated
- Archdiocese could/will get sued
- Scandal
  - i.e. that priest married us; that priest baptized me;
- It's Embarrassing
- It's a lot of work to do it right
  - We're tired
- Mud raking
  - i.e. why drag the Church through this again
  - Why keep bringing these things up
- Some victims don't want the names released (how many?)
- Seen as vengeful (to whom/by whom)
- Violation of canonical due process

ARCHDIOCESE OF MILWAUKEE
OFFICE OF THE ARCHBISHOP

Jerry
J.D.

March 20, 2003

[REDACTED]

Dear Mr. [REDACTED]:

I am very grateful for the copy of your March 10, 2003, letter to Jerry Topczewski which you kindly sent to me. Coming from a committed Catholic and experienced attorney like yourself makes it all the more compelling.

It also provides me the opportunity to clarify a number of matters. Contrary to The Journal Sentinel, our mediation proposal does envision "restorative justice" as part of a process of emotional, pastoral, and spiritual healing. That means, in your terms, that some "payment of money" could be an outcome of that process. Secondly, although our process -- formed with the guidance of professionals at Marquette University -- does not foresee attorneys at the table, both parties would certainly be free to consult their lawyers prior to any resolution. In particular cases, when asked, we would also consider both sides having legal counsel present, provided they agree that the mediator, not the lawyers, remain in control of the process.

As to the release of the names of priests who have abused in the past, you are correct that I have made the decision not to release them. It was a tough call, with cogent reasons on both sides of the issue. My decision was based on the following factors: one, the majority of the names are already known; two, those not known are either dead or long retired or resigned; three, some victim-survivors asked me not to release the names for fear that, in some instances, the publicity would also hurt them; four, our list would only be of diocesan priests, which would still leave it incomplete; five, some of the alleged abusers have threatened suits against us if we publicize the names any further; six, to release such a list would only drag the Church and the priesthood through the mud for another series of media-stories.

Instead, I decided to release all the names to the District Attorney, which has been done, and asked him to review each of the files of offending priests, which has also been done.

Regarding [REDACTED] and the selection of possible mediators, I personally don't know [REDACTED] but I was advised that [REDACTED] has no formal mediation training and that others with this background might be better suited for this process. A list of five potential mediators was compiled through wide consultation and that list includes names recommended by victim-survivors. Based upon that, I am confident that the selection of a mutually-acceptable individual with past mediation experience should not be an issue, but, if it is, we remain open to consideration of other qualified people.
