The Most Rev. Raymond G. Hunthausen, DD
Archbishop of Seattle
910 Marion St.
Seattle, Wa. 98104

Your Excellency:

after receipt of your letter of Oct 3 and speaking with Father Thomas, I called Dr. Richard Jaws in Tampa & left my name & number for him to return my call & set up whatever appointments are necessary for his evaluation, as you directed. The number I was given by Information is (813) 977-6702.

I hope for early to mid-November, inasmuch as a 90 yr old aunt, a 68 yr old cousin and brother are arriving here today and tomorrow for vacation. I live with a widowed 62 yr old cousin and an 88 yr old aunt.

I wish to give you whatever reassurance I can that I would never have applied for faculties here for Sunday Masses if I believed I was any danger to anyone. It has been a substantial number of years, and I have discovered my problem is under control if I can accommodate my manic-depressive swings. This means I must be able to back off from continuing stress such as full-time parish work. Control of my living & working environment is my key to equilibrium.

The needs of the Church come first, and as I explained to Father Thomas,
I am willing to do whatever is necessary, servatis servandis,
(i.e., maintenance of control as explained above).

I deeply regret the great inconvenience I have unwittingly caused you.

(Rev) Michael J. Kelly
