Dear Father Jim,

Last year my gir friend convinced me to see a psychologist because I was having some emotional problems.

It was his diagnosis that I was suffering from depression. It was his opinion that my problems were a direct result of the sexual abuse I was subjected to by you while I was a child.

His advice to me was that I should see a specialist and go thry extensive therapy. He also urged me to turn you into the police. I told him that I couldn't do that for fear that my mother would be hurt. I told him that I would talk to the bishop about it, but I never did. I don't know why I didn't.

The psycolgist explained that because of your actions I lost my self esteem and my whole life for that matter. I wont elaborate on my systems, but believe me the pain is excruciating.

I have just informed my mother of this, and it is our opinion that because of your responsibility in this situation that you should bear the cost of our treatment. My mother is very upset, but I felt that I had to tell her She is going to see Dr. Campbell this week.

We do not want ever to see you again. And please do not call on the phone. I do expect a letter from you in a couple of days.

I just hope that you do the right thing by us. God knows tae wrong you have done.

If your reply is not satisfactory, the next person will be a lawyer, and then the bishop.

Sincerely,

James N. Wells
