Arata, Henri	Born in 1934. Ordained in 1960. Worked in churches in Portland, Sublimity, Sandy and McMinnville from 1962 to 1982.	Accused of sexually molesting a boy from 1967 to 1970 at St. Mary School, Regis High School and Immaculate Conception Parish when the boy was about 11 to 14 years old. Tentative $325,000 settlement fell apart. Claimant seeking punitive damages in federal court.	Died in 1982. Family says the allegation is false and points to the fact that no other accusers have come forward.
Baccellieri, Joseph A.	Born in Portland in 1940. Attended Central Catholic High School. Went to seminary at Mount Angel and St. Thomas in Kenmore, Wash. Ordained in 1966. Central Catholic High School in Southeast Portland (1966-1978), St. John Fisher in Southwest Portland (1967-1972), Mt. St. Joseph in Southeast Portland (1973 and 1977-1978), St. Therese in Northeast Portland (1974-1976 and 1978-1979), St. Francis in Sherwood (1989-1992), St. Mathew in Hillsboro (1995), Assumption in North Portland (1996-1998), Sacred Heart in Southeast Portland (1999-2000), St. Agatha in Southeast Portland (2001). Band director at Central Catholic. Accomplished accordion player who played at fairs and festivals. Known as the Swinging Priest. Once formed a dance band called the Gemstones with former students.	Eight accusers since 1992. Has admitted sexually molesting at least one Central Catholic High School boy at his beach cabin, although that case was thrown out after the judge ruled the victim should have reported the abuse a decade ago. Archdiocese has paid three accusers total of $575,000 in settlements. Tentative $1 million settlement with another accuser fell through, and that accuser is now seeking punitive damages in federal court. Former Portland Archbishop William Levada removed Baccellieri from ministry in 1992, sent him through two years of therapy, then returned him to ministry. Baccellieri remained in treatment and was closely supervised, with no further accusations against him, according to a spokesman for the archdiocese. No parishioners were informed of his history of sex abuse.	Retired in 2002. No longer in public ministry. Lives in Southeast Portland.
Boyle, Edmund J.	Worked at St. James Cathedral in Seattle and the now-defunct Briscoe Memorial School for	Faces at least nine accusations of molesting boys and girls in Oregon and Washington.	Died in 1995.

Pastor of St. Bernard's (Jordan Valley) in the early 1990s.	Pacome allegedly molested a boy in 1976 on a camping trip to Lake Merwin Camper's Hideaway. An Elgin man says St. Arnaud molested him there in the 1970s.	Died in 1992.
Perone, Rocco	Ordained in 1949 as a Paulist Father. Served at St. Mary in Chicago (1949), St. Philip Neri in Portland (1950 or 1951 to 1956), St. Rose in Layton, Utah (1956-57), St. Austin in Austin, Texas (1957-88), Paulist Father's Generalate in Scarsdale, N.Y. (1989-91), St. Austin in Austin, Texas (1991-92). In Texas, he was assigned to St. Austin, but traveled throughout the state to preach in other parishes. Sent in the 1980s to St. Luke's Institute outside of Washington, D.C., a treatment center specifically for priests with psychological or substance-abuse problems.	A dozen accusers have alleged abuse of boys in the 1950s and 1960s at the Southeast Portland parish and Boy Scout camps. Archdiocesan officials say they have no record of complaints during Perone's tenure, although one lawsuit contends that Perone's alleged improper sexual activities with young males were reported to the archdiocese in 1954. Documents further indicate that the Paulist Fathers received a complaint in 1956 that Perone touched the genitals of a boy in Casper, Wyo. Archdiocese paid more than $2.8 million in 2003 and 2004 to settle most of the claims. Tentative $700,000 settlement of a lawsuit	Died in 1992.

Levada decided Senko needed to leave parish and go into treatment, according to a deposition given by Father Charles Lienert. Senko submitted letter of resignation on March 23, 1993, but denied “consciously or unconsciously” touching the girl improperly.	Died in 2004.

	(1977-80), St. John in Yamhill (1991-92), pastor of St. Peter in Portland until his resignation on March 23, 1993, administrator of St. Alexander in Cornelius (1994-98).Retired in 1998.
Smith, Anthony	Redemptorist. Served at Holy Redeemer in Northeast Portland, led Catholic Youth Organization meetings. Also served at Newman House, University of the Pacific in Stockton, Calif., about 2001. Also appears to have spent time at Redemptorist Renewal Center in Tucson, Ariz., and in Denver, which is the headquarters of the Redemptorists.	Accused of molesting a teenage boy on eight to 12 occasions on the grounds of Holy Redeemer in mid-1980s. Alleged incidents included sodomy, oral sex and fondling, all on the grounds of Holy Redeemer Parish. At the time accusations surfaced, he was director of the Newman House, University of the Pacific in Stockton, Calif. He was removed – at least temporarily – when accusations surfaced. Tentative $15,000 settlement has fallen through, and claimant will seek punitive damages in federal court.	Retired in California
Sprauer, Michael	Born in 1944 in Wenatchee, Wash. Attended Gonzaga University, Wenatchee Valley College and Mount Angel Seminary. Ordained in 1972. Served St. Mary in Eugene, MacLaren School for Boys and Hillcrest School for girls (1972-75), chaplain for Oregon’s prison system (1975-83 and 1986-99), St. Mary in Corvallis (1983-86), St. Joseph in Salem (1999-2003), and St. Edward in Keizer and St. Boniface in Sublimity (both in 2000-02).	Nineteen former MacLaren inmates accuse Sprauer of molesting them when he was chaplain in the 1970s. One additional man accuses Sprauer of molesting him while he was an inmate at Oregon State Correctional Institution. Speaking through his attorney, Sprauer denies the charges.	On administrative leave from pastoral duties, pending resolution of the accusations.
