3. [redacted]

Initial call on 12/9/92 - descriptive of Tony's relationship over the years with his own son, damaging experience of his own, his wife's, and his son's in relation to priest - All anonymous - Tony divorced his wife because of the relationship she was having with this priest who was his close friend.

- Son was in his mother's custody; she learned from him of the sexual advances the priest had made to him, broke off her relationship, said that she reported the priest, later resumed her relationship
- [redacted] took custody of his son [redacted] once sexual abuse was known and general lack of care on the part of his mother.
- [redacted] spoke extensively of his own life detours + now in a third but good marriage. He spoke of the problems his son has had with drug and alcohol abuse, and hospitalization for suicide attempts and now of his son's current stability.
- Throughout the conversation, a sense of the power this priest had, and his threats and his control of the woman were strong. [redacted] wept several times.

Second call on 12/10/92. [redacted] is now more concerned with how we might proceed, and whether there are any other reports and/or allegations on file. Why is this priest still practicing? There is further information about others, but who solicits it?

Appointment with [redacted] and wife [redacted] on 12/11/92. Priest, Thomas Fory is named. Some repetition of the details of the marriage.

split, divorce, rumors going about in facture

Complete documentation will be made available from [redacted] Detective Agency and lawyer [redacted] willing to contact these men and release information
Basic questions - How "neutralize" this priest?
For the victim, will there be understanding
and assistance?
Why are there no records?

[redacted] (son)

Initial conversation with CEM, urged
by his father. 12/9/92
Resistance - "my Dad is bringing this up"
The priest destroyed my childhood, teens, early young adulthood - several suicide attempts. But "I've forgiven this man" - I did once "I discovered the bad" Questioned by CEM - if in his six months hospitalization at Newton-Wellesley whether he brought the abuse up. Warren was not sure if he did.

Second call to Chasset on 12/12/92
[redacted] is a ~~clerk~~, married, father of three small children. In this call, there was no resistance to describing his growing up,
the neglect when his mother would go off with [redacted] for a few days - when he at the age of 8 or 9, lived with his mother in an apartment in Mashfield - after the divorce. He related visits to Mashpee, sexual fondling which he mistook as affection and then more explicit genital fondling in the woodworking area in the basement. [redacted] did not say anything for a [?] year, but avoided Tom. He went to Mashpee 3 or 4 yrs. One time when he misbehaved at 14 or 15, Tom beat him up relentlessly.

[redacted] mother left T. Fory when she learned about the abuse and reported him to the Archdiocese

[redacted] thinks "he has not gotten the help he needs and that he should not continue his hypocrisy; meaning T. Fory."

[redacted] expressed some anger "I think I am [angry] - I want to take him down. Much less fear was indicated about reprisal. T. Fory would "never know my whereabouts now nor my mother's in FL."

With CEM the possibilities for searching for counselling and payment for it was affirmed.

[redacted] indicated he would like to call every week or so for awhile
