

List of Priests with Allegations of Semblance of Truth of Sexual Misconduct with Minors

The Diocese of Fort Worth was established on August 22, 1969, having previously and most recently been a part of the Diocese of Dallas-Fort Worth.

The following is a list of those priests, who have served in the Diocese of Fort Worth since it was established, who had allegations with a semblance of truth made against them regarding sexual misconduct with minors. The list includes priests who were diocesan priests of the Diocese of Fort Worth and those who served within the territorial limits of the Diocese of Fort Worth when the incidents of abuse were alleged to have occurred. None of these priests are currently in active ministry. The individuals who were ordained for the Diocese of Fort Worth or who were incardinated into the Diocese of Fort Worth will not be returned to active ministry. The decision concerning whether an individual, who is a member of religious order or who is incardinated in a Diocese, other than the Diocese of Fort Worth, can return to active ministry is made by the religious order or the Diocese to which the individual priest belongs and not the Diocese of Fort Worth.

An allegation is deemed to have a semblance of truth if there is reasonable cause to believe that the abuse could have occurred. The determination is not an admission that the alleged abuse occurred or an admission of liability. The standard for establishing that allegations have a semblance of truth is a far lesser standard than required by a civil court, where a preponderance of the evidence is required, or by a criminal court, which requires proof beyond a reasonable doubt. The determination that was made, after a consultation with the Diocese's Conduct Review Board, was that there is a similarity of truth to the allegations. It is not a determination that the alleged abuse actually occurred.

The Diocesan Conduct Review Board, in the process of making a determination concerning an allegation of abuse, attempted to obtain statements from the accuser and from the accused individual, if the accused individual was alive and the accused individual's location was known. No formal hearing was conducted. No cross examination of anyone giving a statement was conducted. The rights available to an individual under civil law and criminal law were not provided to the individual in this process. The process is not intended to and does not make a determination of whether the alleged abuse occurred.

Every effort has been made to make sure that the list is accurate and up to date. Questions about the list should be made in writing to the Office of the Vicar General, 800 West Loop 820 South, Fort Worth, Texas 76108-2919.
