

New Parish Established In Stoughton

Establishment of a parish in Stoughton, bringing the number founded since he became head of the Boston Archdiocese close to 50, was announced last night by Archbishop Cushing. It will be known as Our Lady of the Rosary parish.

Rev. Joseph W. Kenney, 53, native of Medway and now assistant at St. Patrick's Brockton, will become pastor of the new parish June 29. Fr. Kenney prepared at St. John's Seminary, Brighton, and was ordained in 1931. He was once a curate at St. Patrick's Lowell.

FR. KENNEY

The Archdiocese now has 387 parishes.
