

The Daily Sentinel, March 3, 1971

Former IHM Priest Dies

The Rev. Jerry Repola died early Friday at St. Joseph's Hospital in Denver. He had been ill since October, and in serious condition for several weeks.

Father Repola was 33. From 1966 to 1968 he had been assistant at Immaculate Heart of Mary church here, and a teacher at Immaculate Heart school.

He left here to study at Adams State College, Alamosa, and had acted as chaplain at the school. Through his second year at the college he was the instructor for several classes.

Burial will be at Alamosa on Monday. Friends in the psychology department at the college have started a memorial scholarship to support a student in that department, at either the under-graduate or graduate level.

Survivors include his parents and two brothers.