

Abbey foundation tries Monterey diocese

Our Lady of Guadalupe Abbey in Pecos, Mexico, has announced the establishment of a new foundation in the Diocese of Monterey.

The foundation, known as the Monastery of the Risen Christ, has received permission from The Most Rev. Thaddeus A Shubsda, Bishop of Monterey, to begin work in the diocese.

The Pecos Abbey, a Benedictine community, also has houses in Arizona and Hawaii.

The Rev. Raymond Roh, O.S.B., will head the new foundation, temporarily headquartered in San Luis Obispo.

Roh holds graduate degrees in educational administration and religious education from Catholic University and Creighton University. In 1976, he entered the Pecos Community and served as coordinator of their School for Spiritual Directors.

The Rev. Gregory Mosca, O.S.B., will be Roh's assistant. He has been working in various parishes in the Diocese of Monterey, especially Nativity of Our Lady in San Luis Obispo.

The staff of the Monastery of the Risen Christ is immediately available for retreats, parish missions, spiritual direction, work with Charismatic and other renewal groups, and substitute parish work.

For more information on the Monastery of the Risen Christ please call the Rev. Raymond Roh, at 546-8103 or write to P.O. Box 3931, San Luis Obispo, 93403-3931.
