Great Falls — School opened Aug. 29 for the 51st year at Ursuline academy. There are several changes in faculty, and there is only one session of the kindergarten in the forenoon.

Three hundred sixty-one children are in attendance in the following grades with their teachers:

Kindergarten, Mrs. M. C. Heffern; grade one, Mrs. Wilfred Weber; grade two, Mother Vincent Marie; grade three, Mother Mary Catherine; grade four, Mother Frances Therese; grade five, Mother Mary Benedicta; grade six, Mother Mary Frances; grade seven, Mother M. Magdalen with Mrs. Charles Pullin, substitute; grade eight, Mother Elisabeth Marie, principal, with Mother Clement Marie, substitute and music teacher; French and music, Mother Loyola; art, Mother Raphael; music, Mother Ursula Marie; library, Mother Clotilde. Rev. Mother Mary Laurence is director.

During the summer nine Ursuline grade teachers from Great Falls attended the two four-week workshops held at the St. Ignatius school, under the auspices of Carroll college. Mother Bernadette McCarthy of San Francisco conducted the classes in the new math methods. Mother Camilla Kekich of Alton, Ill., gave the art instruction.

Mother Madeleine, principal of Our Lady of Lourdes school, studied special CCD methods at San Rafael, Calif. Mother Elisabeth Marie, academy principal, worked on the diocesan school committee at the College of Great Falls.

Three of the Ursuline teachers at Central high school did advanced work. Mother James had a science and math grant to study at the University of San Francisco. Mother Monica took courses in the new math at Gonzaga university, Spokane, and Mother Angela did special work in Spanish at the College of St. Teresa, Winona, Minn. Mother Colette Heffernan of Santa Rosa, Calif., who is on the Central faculty this year, studied under a science grant at the California State college, Humboldt, Calif.
