ABOUT ME

Father Horacio Medina - Serving the Archdiocese of Newark as Priest

Father Horacio Medina is a Roman Catholic Priest who leads services and ministers to parishioners at the Archdiocese of Newark. He is also a University of Saint Peter's professor who instructs on ancient and Greek philosophy, Christian morality and ethics, and Spanish as a second language. Father Horacio Medina regularly visits patients in local hospitals to provide hope in their recovery and works with those deprived of liberty in prison.

Father Medina is also an HR manager and foreman with Maverick Building Services and coordinates activities spanning Essex County. He previously spent a decade as a morning crew foreman and shop steward, and served on the Political Organizer Brigade of the Service Employees International Union (SEIU) Local 32BJ. He worked to advance labor objectives and attended the United Leadership Conference and the Social Justice Leadership Academy.

Father Medina's work in the Christian faith extends to preaching the Gospel to thousands of listeners each day. An avid reader, he enjoys the works of Shakespeare, as well as classical works of drama and romance.
