

BILL WIPPERT/Bufalo News

Any attempt at forging a new public ethic must include blacks and Hispanics. Both groups are occupying increasingly influential roles in American religious life. Above, the Rev. L. Antonio Rodriguez celebrates Mass for Hispanic Catholics at Immaculate Conception on Edward Street. Right, worshipers raise their voices in song during a revival service held under a tent at the corner of Jefferson Avenue and Riley Street.

RON MOSCATI/Bufalo News