Pastor will retire here

The Rev. Raymond F. Murphy, founding pastor of St. Kevin's parish in Warwick, will retire and become pastor emeritus and chaplain of the Stella Maris Home here, it was announced today by the Most Rev. Louis E. Gelineau, bishop of Providence. The bishop announced several other personnel changes involving local parishes.

The Rev. Daniel Moriarty, assistant pastor at St. Mary's Church, has been named to the same position at the Cathedral of SS. Peter and Paul in Providence. He succeeds the Rev. John D. Broderick, who has been named assistant pastor at St. Joseph's Church here.

Named to succeed Father Murphy at St. Kevin's was the Rev. Raymond E. Dyer, pastor of St. Joseph's Church in North Scituate and a former assistant pastor here at St. Augustin's Church. Father Dyer taught at the former De La Salle Academy here.

Newport Mercury and Weekly News, January 30, 1976